DT

Heard a radio newscast with a discussion of new research into bone diseases. Reminded me of Dione and her continuing silence. That reminded me of the silence of Gauldston. I forced a bit on her, not on him. It can be said I turned her off by pressure. This isn't true of him. Both came on strong close to the same time. Both fell silent at the same time. Odd, if not entirely unexpected. Life is full of coincidences. HW 4/23/73

15